More French Trouble
Europe Knows Our Dollar

Gold Is Good Freight

By ARTHUR BRISANE

PARIS MOBS continued rioting, and France again changed her government. Gaston Doumergue, formerly French President, 71 years old, undertakes the task of managing France under difficulties. France owes much to old men, and, fortunately for her, Frenchmen retain mental and physical vigor late in life.

Foch, Joffre, and the great Clemenceau, worth all the others put together, were old.

The Paris riots represent a combined effort of Communists and Royalists, and the Communists, if they succeeded, would decapitate the Royalists, and the Royalists would do as much for the Communists, if the Royalists succeeded.

It should make the Due De Guise, who thinks he ought to be king of France, rather thoughtful, when he observes the rioting in the Place de la Concorde. It was on that fine square that the little Louis Sixteenth was guillotined, not so long ago.

Any pretender who imagines that he can become king of France and hold his throne any length of time does not know the French people.

The Due De Guise, who calls himself "The heir of four kings who in a thousand years made France," should remember that the French people had something to do with making France. It wasn't all done by kings. Also it took the French people a good deal less than 40 seconds to get rid of the kings that had made France.

We don't yet know, in this country, that our dollar is only worth fifty-five cents, but Europe knows it. The gold franc, worth about 3.50 francs when the dollar was a gold dollar, is worth today 4.37 cents in paper dollars. Something frightened our speculative gentlemen in Wall Street yesterday and stocks dropped rather violently. They will go back again.

The cheaper dollar means a better price for the stocks, real estate and everything else, with real value. While the dollar changes its value by fiat, the other things do not change its value.

This is a good time to collect the right real estate securities, if you know how to select THE RIGHT ONES.

Wine growers in California, Ohio, New York and elsewhere will be interested to know that Vincent Astor, of New York, who has a good deal to say about American passenger lines, wants American wines for passengers, as French and Italian lines provide, free of charge, French and Italian wines to their passengers.

Steamship managers say it couldn't be done because French lines can buy good French wines for 15 cents a quart and sell American high prices, taxes, etc., make it impossible.

Twenty-five million dollars in gold went by airplane from Paris to London yesterday. The gold probably will come here by ship, more gold for Uncle Sam, good profit for the steamer.

Gold pays one-quarter of one per cent of its value for transportation across the ocean. The small lump of gold, only 413,000,000 worth, coming over the steamship Roosevelt recently paid $32,500 freight.

It grieves the French to see their gold traveling westward to "Uncle Shylock." There is a theory that gold should travel in the opposite direction.

Germany has decided that Jews must not be disturbed or ill-treated when they are engaged in trade. Somebody in Germany must have heard what happened to Spain and Portugal when the Jews were driven out and Spain and Portuguese trade died, while Italian welcoming Jews began a century of unprecedented commercial prosperity.

The British postoffice shows enormous net profit of fifty-five million dollars for the year. That will interest Postmaster-General Farquhar, who is working to show a profit on his job.

The interesting thing is that the British postoffice owns and runs the British telegraph system, government owned, and will send a telegraph message anywhere in Great Britain for 12 cents. That was the price at

Woods Search Futile, So Needham Probers Try Another Method

The search of the Norfolk County countryside for a possible hideout of the Needham Trust Co. machine-gun bandits was called off shortly after noon today.

State police authorities declared, after a conference, they were convinced it was useless to scour every barn and abandoned house in the vicinity of Needham and Norwood in an effort to find the men who killed two policemen after robbing the bank of $130,000.

At the same time they let it be known that they will take a Norwood man into custody for questioning late this afternoon. They do not believe he was involved in the crime, they said, but feel that his knowledge of almost all the undesirable characters in the vicinity may be of help. They are still convinced at least one man living in the locality took a part in the crime.

Doctors at Glover Hospital, Needham, meanwhile denied that Firman Timothy Coughlin, wounded when he sought to go to the office of parliament Frank O. Haddock, one of the officers of the bandits, was sinking. He has

15 JUMPED PUNG CRASH

Fifteen high school students on a pung ride were tossed into the air today when the sleigh was struck by an automobile at Hawthorne and 82 St. East Weymouth.

Miss Hazel Burns, of 822 Main St., South Weymouth, was knocked unconscious, and William Hunt of North Weymouth was bruised when he landed on his head. The rest did not require medical attention. All were taken to their homes.

The merry-go-round, seniors and juniors, were being driven in High St. when the automobile, operated by Harold Castle of 33 School St., Hingham, in Hawthorne St., struck the front of the sleigh, knocking down the horses and demolishing the vehicle.

Cylinder Head Wrecks Shop

Winchendon, Feb. 8 (AP)—The busting of a strap on the connecting rod on the main engine at the William Brown & Sons Co. factory, today caused the 300-pound cylinder head to blow out, doing damage estimated at $1500. No one was injured.

An automobile, set spinning on the icy pavement at Richmond and Hanover sts., North End, when an auto, driven by a woman, struck it and seriously injured Mrs. Clotilda Stagnuolo, 35, of 106 Richmond St., today.

The two drivers, Julius Heschel, 24, of 106 Richmond St., and Louis Kitzner of Rogers Ave., Lynn, were arrested by Patrolmen Michael J. Stapleton and Robert Collins of Division 1, who witnessed the accident.

Judge Michael J. Murray in Municipal court held them for $500 for operating on ice on charges of "Breach in the rear by Heschel's car. Kitzner's auto spun around after hitting the first car. She was towed several feet.

SECRET CLE TO TEACHER 'KILLERS'

Anagram Is Linked to Death Note; Bishop Bares Cold Plot

Coldly calculated and cleverly perpetrated murder in the disappearance of Miss Alice T. Quinn, retired Medford school teacher, Miss Alice T. Quinn, Bishop announced today.

After a full investigation, he said, was based on secret information. Disclosed in the Bishop's half-an-hour, Bishop said that the disappearance of Miss Quinn was connected with a secret plot to overthrow the district attorney's office.

ANAGRAM WORD PUZZLE

The Latin phrase, arranged in anagrammatic fashion with separating lines, named translators, as penciled on a slip of paper in Miss Quinn's handbag, found at 2 a. m. Monday morning in the boiler room of a building, garage room where her disappearance Sunday night, this was as follows:

The first three words may be translated "A name that cannot be mentioned has given."
"Cocis" proved to be a puzzle. In shorthand a note taken of the anagram was written this question: "Bishop should be 3135—see letter Jan. 14-17 settlement—March 15."

FINDS BLOOD STAINS

The shorthand was deciphered by Miss Adrienne Richardson, secretary to the district attorney. The Latin phrase is used in playing a card trick, it was pointed out. Considerable "h's" unexplained presence of Miss Quinn's purse in the garage boiler room, miles from where she was last seen, is the key to the mystery, Bishop today demanded it from the Somerville police, who have held it since 3:03 Monday morning without even an action.

ROOSEVELT FOR SUGAR CONTROL

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt sent to Congress today a message outlining a strict sugar control program. The following temporary quotas were proposed for the producing areas on the basis of short tons:

Continental, 1,450,000
Louisiana and Florida, 300,000
Hawaii, 825,000
Philippine Islands, 1,027,000
Cuba, 1,944,000
Virgin Islands, 50,000
Total, 6,452,000.

The application of such quotas, President Roosevelt would immediately adjust market supplies to consumption, and would provide a basis for reduction of production to the needs of the United States market.

Mr. Roosevelt also proposed that sugar and sugar cane be basic commodities under the Agricultural Adjustment Act on a processing tax may be levied on sugar to benefit farmers for holding their product to the quota.

He said a tax of less than one cent per pound would provide sufficient funds.

Then he immediately started to carry out his program.

ST. PAUL MAN IS BACK Home, Weak and Exhausted

St. Paul, Feb. 8—Ransomed with $200,000 in bills, Edward G. Bremer, prominent 37-year-old bank president, seized by kidnapers for $200,000 Jan. 17, was at home today after a 23-day imprisonment in an unrelieved hideout.

Wounds about the head, which he had suffered when spirited away by the gang, were healed. Dr. Joseph Sprafkin, the family physician, said though the victim was weak, exhausted and "very, very nervous."

$200,000 PAID IN BILLS

Edward G. Bremer, wealthy banker, the victim's father, Adolph Bremer, in a statement said the ransom was paid in notes and bills, $200,000 of which were $5 notes and the remainder in $10 bills, as demanded by the abductors. The money, he added, was paid to the kidnapers Tuesday night.

Seven members of the bill have been listed by U. S. Department of Justice agents and will be broadcast to the banks of the country as an aid in apprehending the persons responsible for the abduction, it became known here today.

DR. SPRAFKIN SEES DAYS

Dr. Sprafkin was summoned soon after the son of Adolph Bremer, wealthy lawyer, had returned home after being thrown out on a highway by a car at Rochester, Minn., about 85 miles south of here, last night.

MANSFIELD PLANS NEW CITY HALL AT COST OF $1,800,000

15-STORY STRUCTURE WILL BE ON PRESENT BUILDING SITE

Mayor Discusses Project With "Brain Trust"; Design Already Drawn as Part of Boston Public Works Program

Mayor Mansfield revealed today that he contemplates construction of a new City Hall on the site of the present structure at an estimated cost of $1,800,000.

A rough draft of plans for the building, which would be about 15 stories high, has been prepared by George S. McLaughlin, Boylston at architect.

The project will be included in Boston's public works administration program, now being considered by the state emergency finance board, and will probably be substituted for an item of $1,500,000 previously required for construction of a surgical building at City Hospital.

The proposed City Hall was discussed today by the mayor at his first meeting with his "brain trust."

In attendance at the conference were Elliot Wadsworth, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, James J. Patten of the Boston Investment Bankers' Assn., Francis T. Hane of the Municipal Research Bureau, and Charles B. Campbell of the Boston Central Labor Union. Members of the new advisory board unable to attend today are Richard Milton of the Retail Trade Board, Robert Homan of the Boston Bar Assn., and Edwin D. Brooks, president of the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

The city hall would be connected with city hall annex at every floor level. A huge central lobby, beautifully decorated, would make the building one of the show places in the city. Eight elevators would be installed. The structure would have three entrances, from School St., City Hall ave., and Court St.

Washington, Feb. 8 (INS)—After hearing charges that profiteers and bureaucrats have rendered the army air service unfit for war, the House military affairs committee today summoned Assistant Secretary of War Harry Woodring to testify tomorrow on air corps purchases.

The committee heard from Brig.-Gen. William Mitchell, resigned, way time chief of aviation, a charge that only 27th of the Army's 1000 planes are fit for service against a modern air foe.

The committee also will summon Brig.-Gen. H. C. Pratt, in active charge of procurement for the air corps, to follow Woodring on the stand.

PROFITING RAMPANT
Mitchell told the committee that "merchants" had been in charge of aviation since 1925 and profiting had been rampant.

"I got into my job because I tried to stop it," he said. "The Senate committee's investigation has uncovered much, but I don't think it has begun to scratch the surface yet."

Mitchell said the army has about 1000 planes, 79 observation planes and 47 bombers fit for battle.

"And the navy air service is not an air service because it operates from boats," he said.

Reviewing the establishment of the Morrow board, in 1925, which recommended the five-year aviation program, Mitchell asserted that he had heard entrenched bureaucrats in charge of aviation.

JAPAN DANGEROUS
Pictureing the future, Mitchell said an airplane will be built to go to Europe in three or five hours, traveling in the atmosphere. He characterized Japan as the most dangerous potential enemy of this country.

He added: "Japan is building up an air service and building it up to get to Alaska."

Mother and Baby Found in Freezing Attic

In a miserable, freezing attic room in an abandoned house in Gloucester Pl., South End, the Boston Evening American today found a mother and her seven-month-old baby living under the most primitive conditions.

The woman is Mrs. Mary O'Connor, the baby her son Alfred. She said her husband lives in Providence with his family, that he took their two other children and ordered her to get out.

Mrs. O'Connor said that she had been living in the attic since last Thursday, when she was evicted from a furnished room in Laconia St. because she couldn't pay her rent.

The attic is a small and squalid room. In it was a pile of old, old straw. Torn strips of old linoleum were heaped on either side of it. The small of the burning linoleum poisoned the air in the room.

"This is the only thing I can burn," said the woman. "No one knows I live here. I tear up old floor covering whenever I can keep warm."

"Baby and I have got to sleep warm," she said.

"Don't tell them," she said. "They'll take my baby away. Don't tell them. He's a nice healthy baby. Isn't he?"

fired during the night in fighting along the main boulevards between the Opera and the old Madeleine Church.

Police insisted the shots were fired by rioters, but slugs flew in both directions. At least ten civilians suffered bullet wounds.

Doumergue told the suddenly tranquil nation that he would give it a government of sages—an "elder statesmen" cabinet.

The streets, after two days of mad rioting, today heard only the "Vive Doumergue!"

SQUARE SWEET BY MOIR
The latest plot again started in the Place de la Concorde. Then they spread the Elzev's palace.

The Place de la Concorde is a spacious square. On one side it adjoins the Champs de Elysees. On the far side from the Seine is the Chamber of Deputies.

Flanking the square are the Tuilleries gardens on one side, and opposite the Champs de Elysees.

Between the hotel and the ministry of marine, the Rue Royale opened off the square. It leads to the Madeleine Church.

As rioting spread beyond this region, the streets of Tuesday's bitterest battling, 2000 persons tried to rush the gates of the Presidential home.

They were beaten back after fierce fighting.

Then the boulevard were invaded and a four-hour sporadic battle raged on the wide boulevard.

Seeking to trap the mob and beat the rioters into submission, police swung their clubs right and left. Men and women were knocked off their feet.

The American embassy was well out of the zone of the worst fighting. One small window was broken in the Guaranty Trust building.

Doumergue, who received a tumultuous welcome from thousands when he arrived this morning, began his work of forming a so-called "cabinet of premiers" at noon.

He was given the quarters at the foreign office once occupied by the beloved late Aristide Briand, many times premier of France.

There Doumergue received party leaders and the men he wanted to put in his ministry.

Where he passed he was cheered by his followers.

His route was a veritable triumph.

MORE HIGHBALL LOVE NOTES

Greenwood, Miss. Feb. 8 (INS)—Hitting at seasonal discolours, including an alleged threat by Dr. J. Preston Kennedy to take his own life, attorneys for Dr. Sara Ruth Dean sprang a surprise today by introducing a huge batch of "love letters" which admittedly will play a prominent part in the "highball" poison murder trial of the young woman physician.

While defense attorneys closely guarded the letters, exactly one hundred were identified by Dr. Henry Kennedy, brother of the dead surgeon, who said they valued the late physician as "a gay Lothario who made passionate love incessantly" to Dr. Dean over a period of years.

LINDBERGH BABY KILLED IN ACCIDENT FALL, TEST PROVES

CRIME REACTED IN DETAIL BY U. S. AGENTS

'Dummy' Stolen From Crib Crushed Under 'Abductor's' Weight

A man climbed a three-piece ladder set against the sill of a second-story window of a big white house in Hopewell, N. J.

He went in through the window and climbed back to the ladder with a tiny figure in his arms—and started down.

A rung of the ladder slipped and he fell to the ground, and under his weight the tiny figure he carried was crushed.

It actually happened a few weeks ago.

And it probably happened that unforgettable night in 1933 when Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was kidnapped and killed.

A Department of Justice agent assigned to work on the Lindbergh case today in a routine check of an unimportant case and revealed the recent dramatic re-enactment of the kidnapping scene—and its much more dramatic sequel.

The re-enactment of the Lindbergh abduction was probably the most painstaking ever undertaken in connection with any crime.

That quickly constructed and precarious ladder left on the ground under the windows of the nursery of Henshaw House was the clue upon which it was built.

Employing the best skilled cabinetmaker they could find, they had a duplicate built to exact dimensions even to the defect found in one of the rungs of the ladder.

A dummy was constructed of the exact weight of Baby Lindbergh and placed in a crib in the exact spot where the child slept in the nursery of the Southern Mountain house the night of the kidnapping.

The only possible inconsistency in the re-enactment was in the choice of the person to climb the ladder. For, of course, the man who kidnapped the kidnaper was not.

"Climb it naturally, enter the window naturally, pick up the dummy and come out naturally. Do everything without a thought as to the manner in which you are doing it except that you must keep in mind how you always as close as possible to the man impersonating the kidnaper was told."

He climbed to the window, went in, picked up the dummy, climbed out and was half way down the ladder when the defective rung slipped and he plunged to the ground.

He fell on the dummy and so died it.

There was the answer. Baby Lindbergh, stolen for ransom, was killed accidentally when his kidnaper fell on him. His death or fatal injury was not discovered until he had been carried away from the scene a few miles. Then his body was concealed in the woods where he was found.

Own Injuries Lost in Grief Over Fiancee

Miss Geraldine Jarl, 26, suffered injuries from a fall from a trapeze on the stage of the Keith-Boston Theater, caused by the breaking of a rope, after minor importance to her. She has been grieving for days over the accidental death of her fiance, Arthur Hamlin, 47, also an acrobat.

Injuries which Miss Geraldine Jarl, 26, suffered in a 17-foot fall from a trapeze on the stage of the Keith-Boston Theater, caused by the breaking of a rope, after minor importance to her. She has been grieving for days over the accidental death of her fiance, Arthur Hamlin, 47, also an acrobat.

But he will not know until Saturday at noon (E. S. T.), just what the good deed is to be.

Then President Roosevelt will give him the word over the radio.

And like a good scout, each will go out and do it, no matter how difficult the task.

Scout executives know, however, the good deed is related to the general relief program, and has been thought out in conference with Harry L. Hopkins, federal administrator.

This command from the President will be the principal feature of "Boy Scout Week."

Higher Standard for Bar

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Charles C. Burlingham of New York City, former president of the New York City Bar Association, will confer with treasury officials next week on ways and means of raising the standard of performance of lawyers practicing before the courts.

It was disclosed at the same time that he served only a little more than two months at the State Prison before being transferred to the Norfolk Colony.

Finney pleaded guilty last Oct. 2, before Judge Cox in Superior Court to a charge of receiving $100,000 worth of cigarette stencils a year ago from the warehouse of the Economy Grocery Stores Corp. at 86 St. John St.

During this crime two watchmen, Arthur Smith and Albert Smith, were beaten and tied up. Three brothers, William, Edward and Joe H. Finney, were sentenced to from 1 to 15 years for the robbery.

It was during the investigation that Pauline and McDonald were beaten nearly to death by members of the Quinlan gang.

DOUGLAS HAVE TO WAIT OVER YEAR TO WED

Lord Ashley's Divorce Suit Will Be Held Up Until 1935

London, Feb. 8 (INS)—Douglas Fairbanks probably will have to wait much longer than he had expected before he can marry Lady Ashley, it was disclosed today.

Because the divorce suits already are crowded, it was found likely Lord Ashley's suit against the former Sylvia Hawkes, British actress, pending Fairbanks' divorce, will not be heard for a full year.

But Mrs. Maider and her friends are expected to be made if it is possible a somewhat speedier arrangement could be made if the suit were to go undelayed.

MARY WORRIES DOUGLAS

"Fairbanks' chief worry at the present moment is whether Mary Pickford intends to continue with her divorce action against him."

This, according to one of the American newspaper correspondents, is the chief worry of his friends today, overshadowing any worry he may have in connection with the Ashley divorce suit.

According to present plans, neither Lady Ashley nor Fairbanks will defend the suit.

"The delay in the California courts on Mary's divorce suit against Doug is causing him great anxiety," the friend continued.

"The reason is that he is anxious to marry Sylvia as soon as it is legally possible."

Fairbanks and Lady Ashley are still in London, having given up plans for the moment to go to the Continent, where Doug is scheduled to complete his latest film, "Do Do Do."

Both refuse to say anyone or to answer phone calls, and they are not frequenting London's "night-life" spots.

According to legal custom here, neither Fairbanks nor Lady Ashley can discuss Lord Ashley's suit.

Lack of Frost Aids Jobless Germans

Berlin, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Labor Office said today that unemployment in Germany had declined by 28,000 persons during January because of the absence of frost during the month.

The office now lists 3,740,000 unemployed—2,239,000 less than on Jan. 31, 1933.

Dozens Beg for Baby Whose Daddy Left

When you think that it takes just a few lines in a newspaper—"Adopt My Baby"—and the response is a hundred press for that baby in a few hours, it can't be such a bad world after all.

A girl-mother in Gloucester made that plea because she couldn't see her way clear to give him the things her mother love thought a baby deserved.

She is only 22 and her name is Ethel Middleton. Her husband was in the habit of "walking out on her." He did it five times and she took him back. But this time she's "through—all through."

Mrs. Middleton wants some "kindness, even a kind hearted couple" to take that baby boy—his four months old—and give him a chance in life, a chance to be an educated man.

When the Boston Evening American printed her story the response was enough to gladden any mother's heart, even the heart of a mother who was planning to give up what was nearer and dearer to her than anything else in life.

There will probably be more hungry-hearted persons who want to give that only two-and-a-half-year-old mite and give him a chance. So that's the reason for this story.

"Maybe you are like Mrs. G. F. of Somerville, who 'would be only too glad to take the baby' . . . we aren't wealthy by any means, but have a comfortable home and the child could not have any more love or care than we could give him."

"Love . . . care . . . yes, that sounds like what Mrs. Middleton wants for her baby. Maybe she'll choose that woman."

"I have no children," . . . another woman writes. She is Mrs. M. L. of Roxbury.

"I hope to be the luckiest . . . to be the first."

Well, her letter went to Mrs. Middleton last week. You couldn't begin to tell all the letters and replies all the telephone calls that came for that baby, but they came, one after another, and those two extracts are samples of what was said.

There will probably be more hungry-hearted persons who want to give that only two-and-a-half-year-old mite and give him a chance. So that's the reason for this story.

Write to Joe at Dunham at Gloucester, and tell her yourself if you want that baby. The Boston Evening American can only tell you what to do. It cannot pick out the new mother. That is the task of the mother herself.

Employees of the clerk's office in the Somerville district court today learned that the Blue Eagle of the NRA has not yet driven all unemployment from the land.

They heard the findings of a personal survey made by one Manuel Hotel, 31, between here and California. He traveled across the country and back again to Somerville in search of a job, he said, and found none.

Therefore, he wondered whether Asst. Clerk L. S. Connolly or Probation Officer William F. Jones might not do something about it. He suggested that they might issue a complaint against him as a vagrant and send him to Bridgewater, where, at least, he could neither freeze nor starve.

That, however, could not be done, but girl employees of the office got on their telephone and in vain attempted to find a job for the man.

Finally Connolly gave him a dollar bill and sent him to the Boston CCC recruiting office.

DIVA QUITS CITY TO MARRY BUSHMAN

Carmela Ponselle Admits Long Romance With Ex-Film Star

For romance and its acknowledgment, beautiful Carmela Ponselle, soprano diva, delayed her bath in Boston today to admit, through a closed door, that she will marry Francis X. Bushman, an dwil retiree in a year.

"Francis X. is the greatest boy in the world and I hope I will be his family," trilled the mezzo soprano in her happiest trill still through the closed door because of her dearability.

Word had been received from Chicago that Bushman, once a "Great Lover" of the silent movies, had applied for a marriage license to take dark-eyed Carmela for his third bride.

Bushman, she said, was introduced to her three years ago and "it was love at first sight."

"He proposed to me the third week of last week," she volunteered.

"Was the proposal anything like the ones he used to make in the movies?" she was asked.

"Oh, no, it was very quiet," she said. "The singer, only half the age of Bushman, gave me his age as 50, but who is declared to be over 50, she said she had admired him since she first saw him in the movies years ago."

"I was only a kid then," she said, "but I thought he was perfect. Wonderful. I still think so."

Not even the reminder that on Bushman's last professional visit to Boston he advertised for a "millionaire wife" chilled the happy diva's ardor.

"Oh, he's so," she exclaimed mockingly. "Well, this is a love match."

"He had 7000 responses to that advertisement," she was reminded.

"I hate to tell you how many proposals I've had," she shot back quickly.

Carmela left Boston at 1:45 today from Back Bay station for the 20th Century Limited for Chicago, where Bushman, partner now in a retail liquor concern, will meet her at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Tuesday morning, she said, she will give a performance of "Cavalcade" in Chicago, and Bushman, for the first time, will hear her sing.

Just before she left the diva said she might be married right after arriving in Chicago or she might wait a month or longer.

Scouts Await Roosevelt

New York, Feb. 8 (INS)—Every boy scout in America is on his toes today waiting to do a good deed of national importance.

But he will not know until Saturday at noon (E. S. T.), just what the good deed is to be.

Then President Roosevelt will give him the word over the radio.

And like a good scout, each will go out and do it, no matter how difficult the task.

Scout executives know, however, the good deed is related to the general relief program, and has been thought out in conference with Harry L. Hopkins, federal administrator.

This command from the President will be the principal feature of "Boy Scout Week."

Higher Standard for Bar

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Charles C. Burlingham of New York City, former president of the New York City Bar Association, will confer with treasury officials next week on ways and means of raising the standard of performance of lawyers practicing before the courts.

It was disclosed at the same time that he served only a little more than two months at the State Prison before being transferred to the Norfolk Colony.

Finney pleaded guilty last Oct. 2, before Judge Cox in Superior Court to a charge of receiving $100,000 worth of cigarette stencils a year ago from the warehouse of the Economy Grocery Stores Corp. at 86 St. John St.

During this crime two watchmen, Arthur Smith and Albert Smith, were beaten and tied up. Three brothers, William, Edward and Joe H. Finney, were sentenced to from 1 to 15 years for the robbery.

It was during the investigation that Pauline and McDonald were beaten nearly to death by members of the Quinlan gang.

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The new $300,000,000 revenue bill is virtually ready for passage and means committee to submit to the House for action next Tuesday.

The committee today planned to include Postmaster-General Farver's recommendation of continuing another year the present first and second class postage rates.

GIRL SURVIVES TRAPEZE FALL

Physicians brought good news to the bedside of Geraldine Jarl in City Hospital today. X-ray photographs had revealed that no bones had been broken when she fell 17 feet from a trapeze on the stage of the Keith-Boston theater yesterday when a rope broke.

But the glad tidings that the accident would not halt her career brought only a wan smile. Her gaze traveled to a framed photograph brought to her by one of her members of her troupe.

It was that of Arthur Hamlin, an acrobat and her fiance, who died two weeks ago as a result of a similar accident—another victim of the hazards of the stage. Grief over his death was her dominating emotion today.

Hamlin was appearing at a Long Island, N. Y., theater, and after taking two curtain calls rushed off the stage. A piano had been wheeled up for the next act. Hamlin failed to see it and ran full tilt into the instrument behind which he died shortly afterward.

The two had figured in the romance of the stage and planned to marry in June.

GANG'S 'FENCE' ASKS PARDON

George Flannery, of South Boston, confessed "fence" in a daring gangland robbery, is seeking a pardon from Gov. Ely after serving only three months and two weeks of a two and one-half to five year State Prison sentence, the Boston Evening American learned today.

It was disclosed at the same time that he served only a little more than two months at the State Prison before being transferred to the Norfolk Colony.

Girl, 10, Finds $100; Gets $5

Little Beverly Milk, of 25 Cabot st., Dorchester, is only ten and a half years old and to a child even a dime looks like large money—but little Beverly knew just what to do when she found $100 in the Franklin Park theater.

Beverly went right to the box office, reported her find, turned it in and was given a reward.

Some time later, Harry Walcott, of 58 Chumley st., Grove Hall, returned to the theater to inquire if anybody had found a roll of money.

He had dropped—but he had little hope of any luck.

What was his surprise, however, when he received his money and was told of the honest little girl.

Today-Beverly was richer by a $5 reward from Walcott, and $5 counts up to $10 cents.

ROOSEVELT MAY VOID AIR MAIL CONTRACTS

Washington, Feb. 8.—Possible cancellation of air mail contracts, whose value runs into millions of dollars, will be discussed at a conference this afternoon between President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Cancellation has been under consideration since the Black committee of the Senate began unearthing evidence of irregularities in the awarding of the contracts during the Hoover administration.

Members of the committee conferred on procedure tomorrow when they will confer with officials and their attorneys, William F. MacCracken, will appear before the Senate bar to show cause why they should not be held in contempt for destroying or removing correspondence subpoenaed by the committee.

MacCracken was assistant secretary of commerce for transportation in the Hoover administration.

It has not been determined whether Farley will act in his own right or whether Mr. Roosevelt will personally exercise powers to cancel contracts believed fraudulent.

CUTTER HUNTS 2 LOST SHIPS

Baltimore, N. S., Feb. 8 (AP)—Somewhere on the east, gray Atlantic off the coast of Nova Scotia, two disabled fishing schooners with 25 men were drifting to leeward at the mercy of a wintry gale.

No word had been received from the Canadian cutter Arcturion, combing the Banks for the missing schooner, Dot and Hille, of Liverpool, N. S., with a crew of 20 men. Meanwhile, south shore mariners, meanwhile, were checking isolated ports for the missing vessel Hazel A. G., unreported since Tuesday.

Only 15 gallons of fuel and small food supplies were carried on the Hazel A. G. for her five man crew when she left for a one-day trip last week of the Liverpool fishermen going after the skipper of the missing schooner, John and Shirley, said the vessel's engine was crippled and available canvas insufficient to carry her to port in the teeth of the blizzard.

3 DUE, 10 COME, Right Food and Sleep Bring Star Beauty

The moving season is still some months away and Mrs. Hilda Cirocco who lives on the second floor of 228 Main st., Everett, was very pleased the other day when she rented her empty first floor apartment—right in the dead of winter.

A gentleman—or so he said—gave her the name of Adolph Teny of Detroit, said he had a wife and two children and was just tickled to death over the house. He would move right in.

Adolph did. Just before the arriving hour of midnight Adolph walked with a huge moving van and a lot of furniture. He moved in.

So did five men, three women and a couple of children.

Mrs. Cirocco counted again . . . two children was right. But Adolph hadn't mentioned the extras among the men and women.

She told Everett police today that she had every reason to believe that Adolph was of the Roman rather than the Roman strain, and asked them to get to the bottom of the whole lot. The police promised.

MAZIS ASSUME CHURCH RULE

Berlin, Feb. 8 (INR)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's hand-picked Reich Bishop, the Rev. Ludwig Mueller, ruled supreme as dictator of Prussian Protestantism today following the issuance of three decrees giving all Protestant pastors directly under his control.

Since Prussia includes more than two-thirds of all Protestants in the Reich, the dictatorship is in effect nationwide.

Any anti-Nazi movement can be quickly suppressed under the new laws. The old governing board of the Prussian Church Union is abolished.

Reich Bishop Mueller may retire upon his own authority; the clergyman having no right to preach. Pastors may be transferred from one parish to another without notice.

Tomorrow the Media House Caravan with more than a score of Hollywood's stars on a nationwide tour will arrive in Berlin. By special arrangement the Boston Evening American has presented a daily article written by one of the film players.

ARMED TROOPS RULE VIENNA

Vienna, Feb. 8 (AP)—Steel helmeted police, with bayonets fixed, occupied socialist centers in Vienna today as the Austrian government's drive against Nazis and Socialists entered a new phase.

Apparently these developments resulted at least in part from a Socialist leaders yesterday when Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss departed for Budapest, leaving Vice-Chancellor Emil Fag in charge.

Fag also is a leader in the Fascist Heimwehr (Home Guard) and the left Socialists to become apprehensive of attempts to repeat in Vienna a coup by which Fascists seized control of the Tyrol.

Budapest, Feb. 8 (AP)—Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria, here to call on Premier Julius Gombosi of Hungary, said today that the world need not expect any change in the government of Austria in the near future.

"Without boasting and with absolute certainty," said Dollfuss, "I can tell you that the government's position has never been so strong as today."

TAXI STRIKERS FIGHT POLICE

New York, Feb. 8.—The most serious disorder since the taxi strike began last Friday brought out all available police and radio today this morning as a band of 500 rampaging strikers verged on the Grand Central station.

Wrecking dozens of cabs in their angry midtown march, the strikers shouted to the working drivers who had accepted peace terms: "Watch out, we're getting hungry! You know what that means!"

Bricks and stones were hurled through cab windows, in many cases showering passengers with broken glass.

Dorothy Dunbar, screen and stage beauty and former wife of Max Baer, heavyweight title contender, bares to readers of the Boston Evening American today her simple rules for health and beauty.

Thoroughly founded on common sense that it scarcely seems worth while to talk about them.

The three foundations of health which is, of course, a prerequisite to beauty, are, it seems to me, regular eating, plenty of sleep and exercise in the open air.

That's why I make almost no social engagements while I am working in a picture. I want my evenings for rest and my nights for sleeping. While I am not absolutely inflexible in this, because many social diversions can be useful, I don't undertake any social obligations that interfere with the eight or nine hours nightly sleep that I must have, especially during a production.

SLEEP IS IMPORTANT

Getting of sleep is equally important. It is quite true that, in an emergency, one can go with little or no sleep for a considerable period of time. But it is also true that one pays for it, just as we pay for a hangover, as it were.

That's why I make almost no social engagements while I am working in a picture. I want my evenings for rest and my nights for sleeping. While I am not absolutely inflexible in this, because many social diversions can be useful, I don't undertake any social obligations that interfere with the eight or nine hours nightly sleep that I must have, especially during a production.

EXERCISE IN OPEN AIR

Exercise in the open air is something every woman should have daily if she aspires to the health and physical and mental soundness which is looked upon as real beauty.

Tennis and golf happen to be my favorite sports, and I keep at them as faithfully as possible. If I can manage it, I like a set or two of tennis or nine holes of golf before dinner. And it has to be something actively tiring to induce me to forego my week-end hours on the tennis court or the links.

GREATER BOSTON GOES TO WAR

Our Soldiers Over Here, Over There
as Recorded for History by Camera

VIOLENCE AND MERCY— Hand in hand violence and a strange companion, mercy, move up along the Western Front, 1918. Here is the American Red Cross closing in behind an advance of the 26th Division to evacuate the wounded in a desolate, death-swept terrain. Enemy shells are bursting in the background.

THE SUICIDE SQUAD — You wouldn't guess it from their smiles and their fox terrier mascot and their horse play (the barber chair scene in the back row) but these boys were machine gunners, destined to occupy the outpost nests of the American advance a few months after the picture was taken at Camp Lorbeer, Winthrop. It's the Winthrop Machine Gun Company, National Guard, which was merged into the 101st

"COME GET IT!"— And they always did. The advance on a chow wagon was always one of the most enthusiastic. Here are some of the local boys attached to the 101st Trench Mortar Battery mugging up through the kindness of the Red Cross after they disembarked across the pond and they cheered their thanks.

IT WOULDN'T DIE— The infectious spirit of Christmas lived under the ominous black clouds of war. This picture was taken Dec. 25, 1917, at Camp Devens where 30,000 men of the 76th Division, separated from their loved ones for a short period of intensive training before going into battle, gathered evergreens from the surrounding woods and celebrated the holiday. The ability of the doughboy to adjust himself to the hardships of war, taking them in stride, with a grin.

DUSTY— Yet not so dusty. Not an old tintype but a picture showing how women replaced men in men's jobs when men were called to war. A South Station car cleaner, vintage of 1918, as she went about her work in those busy days.

BAYONET DRILL— Parry and thrust and lunge. Scene at an infantry training camp in late 1917 when Greater Boston youths were learning guns could be used for purposes other than shooting partridge. The suspended, fat dummies supposedly represent the stout, well-fed Heinies the 26th Division expected to encounter. The bundles of sticks on the ground are "prone" enemies into which the bayonets have been driven. The lad in the foreground, bayonet to the hilt in the dummy's tummy, apparently visualizes the Kaiser. Nothing very pretty about the thought, or the picture, but there was little pretty about war.

THE FIRST CLIPPED — Here's the first aid station of the 102nd Ambulance Company, showing the first man wounded at the start of the big push, the advance of the 26th Division at Samogneux, Meuse, Oct. 25, 1918. There's a torso for those legs but it's reclining. You had to get hit in those days to get a rest. Then you hung around and puffed fags and just grinned and bore it until you got sent back—back to the front or back behind the lines to a hospital. The lad with his arm in a sling is saying, "Getta fag, buddy?"

THE HOMECOMING— The biggest welcome in all Boston's history was accorded the 26th Division upon its return from France. Here are the notables in the State House reviewing stand as the ranks swept past along Beacon st., from left to right: Senator Frederick Hale of Me., Senator Henry W.

Keyes of N. H., Senator George H. Moses of N. H., Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Mass., Asst. Sec'y of War Benedict Crowell, Gov. Beekman of N. I., Gov. Bartlett of N. H., Calvin Coolidge, Jr., John Coolidge, Gov. Coolidge, Gov. Milliken of Me., Channing Cox of Mass. at extreme right.

CUMMINGS SAYS BREMER FREED FOR $200,000

CHURCH EARS ON CHILD LABOR

Catholic laymen take the opinions of their prelates and bishops in matters of faith and morals, but the child labor law amendment is an economic question, Attn. John J. Cummings told the legislative committee on constitutional law today.

Cummings was one of a group of proponents for Massachusetts' ratification of the Child Labor Amendment to the Constitution. The hearing, resumed in Gardner auditorium in the State House today, was crowded.

The speaker attacked the stand of Cardinal O'Connell in opposing the measure as expressed yesterday through Rev. James J. Corrigan, R. J.

GIVE WRONG IMPRESSION

He also took exception to the opposition of Pres-Emeritus A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, terming him "old and stubborn," and living in the days of Herbert Spencer.

Cummings, 1924 candidate for lieutenant-governor, said that the child labor law amendment, defeated by the cardinal in that year, and that because the cardinal feared it would be a blow at the papal system, he was opposing it now.

Father Corrigan gave the wrong impression yesterday, Cummings declared. "The Catholic church is not opposed to the measure. It is not true that the great body of Catholics are against it."

FAVORED BY WATTS

Asked by Rep. McDonald of the constitutional law committee if the law, in his opinion, would permit the federal government to detain where children would go to school, Cummings replied:

"It is a fallacy that the amendment is directed against the parochial schools—the law has been exploded."

Robert Watts legislative agent for the Federation of Labor put into the hearing letters from 20 labor unions favoring the ratification of the amendment.

Other speakers favoring it were Mrs. Rose Gorman of the Trade Union, League, Mrs. Edward O'Brien of Lenox, of the Child Welfare League; Mrs. Leslie Cutler of Needham, and Robert Amory, cotton manufacturer.

U. S. WILL PUSH BREMER PROBE

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Department of Justice officials indicated today that the search for the abductors of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker, would be intensified now that he had been returned alive.

This was disclosed as details of the return of Bremer were commingled into the office of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the division of investigation of the Justice department. He would not see newspapermen.

Many high Washington officials were happy at the return of the young man, as his family is well known to President Roosevelt and others here.

In other kidnap cases, the Justice department has not thrown its fullest resources into the search for the kidnapers until the victim was returned.

It has been explained that by giving the kidnapers a chance to return the person abducted, the family is satisfied and additional possibilities for securing information as to the identity of the responsible parties is provided.

2 States Claim 14 Million Tax

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 8 (US)—Whether New Jersey or Pennsylvania will collect the $14,000,000 inheritance tax from the estate of the late Dr. John T. Dorrance, Campbell Soup Co. president, will soon be the problem of the United States Supreme Court.

Pennsylvania has already collected $14,000,000 from the $14,850,000 fortune. Now Vice-Chancellor Buchanan, sitting at Trenton, ruled that Dr. Dorrance had never been legally domiciled in Pennsylvania and that New Jersey should receive the $14,000,000 tax.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unhappy pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Laxated bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Pink Pills will help you. You feel from this dark hour. For 30 years they have been prescribed by the world's leading physicians and women. They act easily and safely. They are a dangerous griping. They gently purge the system. They are safe for men and women. They are safe for children. They are safe for the elderly. They are safe for the infirm. They are safe for the weak. They are safe for the old. They are safe for the young. They are safe for the whole family. They are safe for the whole world.

EDWARD G. BREMER. He had missed the last bus that night but that he could take a train to Orono and catch a bus there.

The banker was abducted the morning of Jan. 17, shortly after he had taken his child to an exclusive school for girls. His blood-stained auto was found later.

Shortly after he was kidnapped one of his captives called Walter Magree, wealthy contractor, a friend of the Bremers, and said: "Well, we've got your friend Bremer, and if you are not — careful, we'll get you, too."

Death for Bremer was threatened if Magree called in police or communicated with newspapers. A note the unidentified speaker said, would be found on Magree's doorstep. The note, signed in a shaky hand by Bremer, gave directions for negotiating with the abductors.

Fire Victim, 85 Saved by Boy

Braving blowing smoke that poured from a burning building at 765 Hale st., Beverly, John Carro, 16-year-old Boy Scout, entered the place and rescued John Purco, 85, from an upstairs bedroom and led him to safety, it was learned today.

The fire started from accumulated gas in a stove, spread rapidly and had filled the entire place with smoke when the boy, grasping the aged man by the hand, managed to get him to the street.

He entered the station, they said, about 8 p. m. yesterday, asking about his connections with the twin girls. They told him he

THANKS POLICE

Adolph Bremer, father of the kidnap victim, issued a statement of thanks.

"I appreciate the personal interest of the President and the governor and the splendid cooperation given by the press and the radio, the statement said.

"The city, state and federal law enforcing authorities have been most kind in their efforts and offers of assistance."

"It is my earnest prayer that other fathers and mothers will be spared the agony of a similar ordeal."

As soon as Bremer returned home police and federal investigators began questioning the banker. No one else was permitted to enter the yard.

APPEARED DAZED

Department of Justice agents plan to question Bremer at length as to the people who held him, where he was taken and the things he can remember which will serve as identification of the kidnapers.

No statement will be made by the victim until after he has finished testifying to them all the matter which will help in the manhunt which has now started for the kidnapers.

The ministry of the interior said that it would execute without delay whatever decision the premier may make in the case of the former Chicago utilities operator whose return to Chicago for trial on embezzlement charges is sought by America.

Vigilantes to Curb Crime Urged by Needham Woman

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

An aroused populace, tangibly expressed in a vigilante committee as a powerful force to combat increasing crime, coupled with adequate equipment of police departments throughout the state, were sounded today as exigencies needed to meet present-day crime situations by Mrs. Leslie Cutler, Boston and Needham clubwoman and former town selectman.

As the selectman who appointed the Needham police officers, Forbes said in a letter to the editor of the Boston Evening American last week, Mrs. Cutler called upon every sane-minded citizen in the community to get behind the police in their efforts to bring about a state of law and order.

"I am adding to this," she said, "the fact that police departments are being starved for funds, and that the state should be doing more to help them."

Mrs. Leslie Cutler said that her men with bullet-proof vests and radio-equipped vans, and a definite hookup with state police in various ways in which to meet the influx of foreign criminals reaping harvest at the expense of Massachusetts law-abiding people.

"TIME TO DO"

"If such a vigilante committee was formed, I would be happy to be a member of it and to serve faithfully," she said. "Now is the time for sane-minded citizens to back a powerful movement, one with distinct national character from political affiliations."

Directors of the Massachusetts Dairyman's Association will decide today whether they will seek state control of the milk industry in a charge of assault and battery against their organization in a campaign for new members and in advertising.

Model yachts, designed by boys and a display of miniature railway cars and locomotives as well as other mechanical devices used in outbuilding, are proving to be outstanding exhibits at the Sportsmen's Show this week in Mechanics Building.

Another feature of the show which has commanded plenty of attention is the display from the Province of Quebec. Visitors are entertained by the skill of an Indian canoe builder completing a birch bark canoe. The craft is presented in the big pool of the exhibit on Friday.

State exhibits are also attractive. Many features live trout and bass, and Vermont presents fine exhibits of mounted animals and birds, as well as game fish in lakes. New Hampshire exhibits a fine picture of the various recreational activities there.

Peace in Camp as 'Bully' Is Jailed

Peace reigned today in the CCC camp in Milton, for the "bully" of the camp, Marion Katich, 25, started a 6-month term in the house of correction.

WINTHROP ASKS NAME SENATORS SILENT PLACES

The CWA scandal which flooded Boston with forged war slips and day, have turned the town into a bedlam of noise, making life there unbearable and endangering the lives of the sick.

The complaints were registered last night by the Le-slave committee on highways and motor vehicles by Deputy Commissioner of Correction Edward C. R. Bagen and Rep. Daniel J. Hoan both "students of Winthrop."

They favored a bill to put a stop to unreasonable noise and to regulate the use of mufflers, if practicable.

Clarence Dodge, representing Registrar Ryan, expressed sympathy for the CWA workers, but said, "But putting on mufflers, he said, would do no good, as the noise comes mostly from the propellers. He pointed out that the military planes, "which are by far the worst offenders."

Rich Pay Under Sales Tax, Says Banker

Prominent banker, a member of the firm of Hornblower & Weeks, director in a score of business institutions, the writer of this article is a widely recognized authority on fiscal and taxation matters.

By JAMES J. PHELAN, BANKER
Written for the Boston Evening American

In my opinion the manufacturers' sales tax is a fair, equitable tax, easy of collection, will affect adversely the poor man little, if any, but on the contrary will be a tax on those who can do more away from it—those enjoying large salaries or incomes, including that element, and it is a large one, among the well-to-do who now have their principal invested in tax-exempt securities.

If adopted, it should do away with the nuisance taxes, so-called, and bring an immediate reduction in income tax, a most uneconomic and unfair tax as could be devised by man.

A greater hindrance to business in the way of taxation does not exist than that of the income tax. It is uneconomic in that when business is good it encourages government spending and when business is poor in a large measure it disappears and leads to new and various ways of taxation to make up the loss and to maintain the high level to which the uneconomic income tax in the way of government spending was forced upon the people of the country.

For instance, the sales tax is maintained on a more or less even keel year in and year out, larger of course, in years of prosperity, but substantial in all years and yet spread out so as to cause no particular injury to anyone.

As a business man and in the interest of fair taxation, I am strongly in favor of the sales tax.

NAZI NEGROES OPERA BENEFIT IN STERILE PLAN TO NO DRIVE

Berlin, Feb. 8 (AP)—Hein Schreier, secretary of the German Opera Association, today announced that the organization's drive to raise money for the benefit of the Negroes in the Rhineland and Ruhr districts.

Writing in the newspaper Deutsche Zeitung, he estimated the country has at least 200,000 Negroes of Negro fathers—French colonial soldiers stationed in the two districts during the war. Their mothers, he added, still live in the districts invaded.

Sterilization is needed for the protection of the children themselves, Schreier contended. He pointed out they were German citizens and could marry later, creating more racial mixtures.

Astor Sails—Not to Mend Heart

Wilmington, Cal., Feb. 8 (AP)—On a liner bound for the Antilles, John Jacob Astor III today was on a trip he described as a lark and not an antidote for a broken heart over the ending of his engagement to Helen Gillette, New York debutante.

Puzzling questions concerning his romance with answers bearing upon the lack of sunshine and the distance from his private railway car to the harbor, the heir to the $400,000 Astor fortune successfully eluded comment on the shattered engagement. He was accompanied by three friends—Mayson H. Tucker, Blaine Ewing, Jr., and James Thompson—and a valet.

Elizabeth Bergner Will Star in Film Version of Her Current Hit "Escape Me Not"

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor, Universal Service

Los Angeles, Feb. 8—London's greatest theatrical sensation of the moment is Elizabeth Bergner who played "Catherine, the Great" opposite Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. So impressed was Joseph Schenck with Miss Bergner's performance in the stage play, "Escape Me Not," that he promptly signed her as a Twentieth Century star and purchased the screen rights to her play.

Mr. Schenck said that he felt a "Escape Me Not" would run in London for nearly a year. As a result of this, George White, in spite of rumored battles, has just put his John Hancock on a contract with Winfield Sheehan for an annual "George White Scandals" tour. Mrs. Maude Kennedy has issued formal invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Merna, to Busby Berkeley Feb. 20 at the Hollywood First Methodist Church. A breakfast at the Episcopate will follow. Laura B. Stanford, who inherited a legacy from her husband's uncle, has been named by Paramount. She says she never felt better than that she has been appearing in Shakespearean dramas in England, America that Edgar Allen Wolf with all of the other works at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, should have written ten outstanding hits for her. She wrote both of the plays for their personal appearance and they have been tremendously successful.

Snaphots of Hollywoods
JACK OAKIE buying dinner for one of the CARROLLs, leaving and giving her his coat and his best muffler. JACK OAKIE, wearing a sweater with no sleeves. CHARLIE PARRELL with a merrillous line, explaining a fall from his pole position. ADRIAN ROWLAND made such a hit at the Dominion.

The star rush is on. More and more names are being signed by busy producers. Jack Warner who has been patted on the shoulder by his brothers for making an unusually large number of box office winners these last few months, is bringing Glue and Robert Gleckler to add to Hollywood's growing population. Jack has the "best" idea for the very English Glue whose first appearance will be with Kay Francis and William Powell. Gleckler of stage "The Lion King" fame moves into that thriller, "The Return of the Terror."

A close friend of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and one who is constantly in the company of films and most famous ex-patriate in London, furnishes a little surprise with his new double. He has shown a preference for Lady Ashley last year but his heart at this moment is certainly elsewhere. If this is true you can imagine the dashing Douglas state of mind when he was called by Lord Ashley, but what can he do?

The actor who paddled his legs when he had to wear breeches will be and indeed to know how many people are disappointed.

DON GEORGE 10 TO 8 CHOICE TO WHIP McCREADY

BOSTON, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1934

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST

EVENING NEWS

Champion Ed Don George, facing you and you, strains every muscle as he endeavors to pin the shoulders of Pete Tinguo, sparring partner, in training session. Tinguo and other able pals gave George great workouts this week to send the champion in perfect shape against Earl McCreedy at the Boston Garden tonight. George has topped many powerful mainmen who tried to tip him from the throne. The McCreedy bid, however, promises to give the Don all the trouble he can stand. (Boston American photo.)

Harness Horse Folk Say Rockingham Backers Ungrateful

By AUSTEN LAKE

NEW ENGLAND harness folk, who profess to love a horse for his silky coat and his arched neck, are having a peeve at the running horse people of Rockingham, or the New Hampshire Breeders Association, as they are sometimes waggishly called, who love a horse for his wind and limb. The harness people are having a peeve because the N. H. Breeders, who are really not breeders at all, only Mr. Lou Smith, the old sports agent, and Mr. Bill Dwyer, the prohibition brewer, are going to extend their race meeting at Rockingham to 87 days, or between June 25 and September 8.

This, of course, will crowd the harness people out of Rockingham and away from the center of gravity, which they think a very piggyish matter, in view of the fact that they helped shoot the bet ting bill down the N. H. Legislature's throat by contributing cash.

and testing how betting would make the horse more noble in New England.

The harness people are by nature trusting people and they assumed that Mr. Smith and Mr. Dwyer—the latter a shy man who shuns publicity—would be poured over with gratitude and give them a whack at the gravy which drips through the pan-mutuel wickets. And Lou and Bill did let them in for a spell last summer, until the public's cash began to pour so lavishly that Lou decided it would be unwise to share so much good fortune next summer when money would be looser and the public more watchful of raking its cash on the hairy possibilities of horse racing.

Harness Racing Versus Running Racing

Of course, the N. H. Breeders, or rather Smith & Dwyer, own the Rockingham property, which was only a weedy patch with a dirt trail and a tumble-down collection of outbuildings before legal betting, and if they wish to cut themselves a large slice of cake, it is after all their own cake. Only it happens that the real New Hampshire breeders, who are not in the association, are the familiar rural type who run to harness animals, both plow and sulky, and are pointing that the horse, if anything, has been made less noble in their state because there are very few running horse owners in New Hampshire, and the rage that a few shoe-string owners left behind for feed bills last year will add nothing to the thoroughbred strain.

My own acquaintance with harness racing is limited to the county fairs in northern New York, where the boniness of the tarpap beasts is only excused by the boniness of their yokel drivers, who bunch under the horse's sterns on frad, two-wheeled carts, clucking, whinnying and twisting with glib English on their bayonettes in an effort to root their horse home for glory and a ten dollar prize. But this was always against a background of barrel organs, ferret wheels and the plaintive barking of the

FOX BURNS UP OVER PROPOSED SALARY CUT

By JACK CONWAY

Miami, Fla. Feb. 8 (AP)—Harry Fox, promoter of the Fox Fight, rejected a proffered 1934 contract, calling for a substantial salary cut. Jimmy Fox, promoter of the big-league, today said he would not "tighten" while awaiting further word from Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

"I have not made any plans with reference to seeing Connie Mack about the contract and the big salary cut," said Fox, now spending a winter vacation here. "But I will be glad to talk with him. However, I believe such an invitation should come from Manager Mack."

"My three-year contract, which expired last fall, was $50,000 for the three years," said the big league slugger. "Now, the Philadelphia bosses want me a contract calling for more than a 30 per cent cut, despite my hitting that led the league, and I believe that unfair."

Fox said he would return the contract today, unsigned.

"I'm not worth a raise now after last year and with my prospects to increase that mark this season, both in home runs and regular hitting percentage—well, the books just don't read straight," Fox said.

George Defends Wrestling Title

By JACK CONWAY

Ed Don George is expected to retain his title as world's heavyweight wrestling champion tonight when he clashes with the youthful Earl McCreedy of Oklahoma in a finish bout, best two falls out of three, at a Paul Bowser show at the Boston Garden.

The speculative element has installed George a 10 to 8 choice. The champion is only 23 years of age which is young as wrestlers go. He is still improving as a grappler, and is confident of his ability to turn back the surge of the youthful McCreedy.

The champion is anxious to win in impressive style on account of the latest mat surge by Jim London. The latter is threatening to take away the play from George and Jim Brown.

LONDON DRAWING POWER

London recently drew 20,000 persons at the Chicago Stadium when he defeated "Jumping" Joe Savolli, while he attracted 10,000 fans to the New York Garden to see him win from Ernie Dusek.

There is intense bitterness between George and London. Each has fought for title recognition, and has tried to destroy the other by means of Commission edicts, attacks made through the press and by bookpots with rival promoters.

George can win from McCreedy tonight, he will maintain his position as the outstanding wrestler. His little claims go back to Frank Goetz, the London merely received the blessing of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission and other similar bodies which have been anxious to attract attention to themselves.

McCREEDY RUGGED

McCreedy is a rugged type, and is particularly dangerous in the early stages of a contest. He will rely upon his flying body scissor to beat George. George has been working on a defense which he

BRETTO LOANED TO HUBBING; HARNOTT UP

By BILL GRIMES

Joe Bretto, giant young hockey defenseman who has been working out with the Cubs, has been loaned to the Hubbing Club of the Great Hockey League for the balance of the season.

Hubbing is in the middle of a fight for the playoff to the Boston is expected to aid the club and at the same time gain valuable experience. He will report back to the Bruins next fall.

Bretto is still in his teens, stands over six feet high and weighs 218 pounds and tireless, his skating and stick handling need polish before he can make the big league grade.

During his stay with the Bruins, before being sent to the Hubbing, Bretto was tutored by Eddie Shore, Walter Harrold of the Cubs, first left wing, has been promoted to the Bruins and will make the trip to Montreal tomorrow for the Saturday meeting with the Canadiens.

Ritchie Benefit Nets Only $451

New York, Feb. 8 (INS)—A group of young men rallied to the aid of the family of Andy Ritchie, forward of the Sea Gulls, who died two weeks ago of injury sustained in an Atlantic City game.

But the benefit proved a disappointment due to lack of support. The Ritchie family, who are now in Atlantic City, were informed that the benefit had netted only $451 from the game at the Casino.

The Ritchie family, the team's manager and coach, in quick succession among the summer work. The Gulls, lost by a 3 to 1 score.

Chicago Interests May Buy Ottawa Club

By BILL GRIMES

Since the promotional work started by Tommy Gorman has developed Chicago into one of the most money-minded cities in the "States," rumors are again current that there will be two teams in the Windy City next season.

The Chicago Stadium would jump at an opportunity to install another National Hockey League team, now that Maj. Frederic McLaughlin is beginning to get a return on his investment. Hockey fans are expected to cheer for the promoters have set up a fund that it is impossible to lose a profit when the revenue must be derived from one club.

The Boston and Chicago clubs are the only promoters who are not spending a money's worth of their own.

The Madison Square Garden owns the Rangers and receive rental from the Americans for the Maple Leafs but do not operate their own game, the Montreal Maroons have the controlling interest in the Forum and hold a long term lease with Les Canadiens. Frank Ahrens controls the Chicago Wolves, and the Senators and James Norris, Sr. have acquired the Detroit Olympia, Red Wings and Olympians.

Plenty of Life in Old Arm Yet, Says Dazzy Vance

Is Pleased With Trade That Sends Him to Redland

Homestead Springs, Fla., Feb. 8 (INS)—A red-faced giant with enormous, knuck-knuckled hands, clad in well-worn canvas hunting legs and boots, retired in his base line, took a wobbly seat on the prow of the little dugout and spat meditatively into the crystalline waters of the little Florida lake.

"Well, I'm very well satisfied with my transfer to the Cincinnati Reds," said Dazzy Vance.

It was Arthur "Dazzy" Vance, the 30-year-old pitcher, who had been the overgrown lad who rammed from the Nebraska burbs back in 1912 into the minors, then back into the majors, only to rocket to fame with the Dodgers in 1925 and dazzle the big league with his amazing pitching for nearly a decade.

Fishing and Hunting at Southern Home in Homassosa

Edward Crooley, Jr., Ohio millionaire, had just purchased the not-so-amazing Cincinnati Reds and had taken on Dazzy from the St. Louis Cardinals for a $7500 weekly price.

Dazzy believes he's on the verge of a comeback.

"My arm is as good as ever and I can still pitch 'em. I'll pitch until they quit making uniforms my size."

OPEN TENNIS TOURNEY SIGHTS HERE BY HALL

SOVEREIGN MADE TO ORDER FOR RED SOX

By JOE CASIMAN

There's plenty for the Red Sox to cheer about in the American League's 1934 schedule.

In fact, had Tom Yawkey been permitted to arrange the card with an eye to getting the largest return possible in six months on the millions he has invested in the club, he could hardly have done a better job.

Here are just a few of the choices Yawkey on the Yawkey family's money.

Opening of the local season on April 11, with manager "Bucky" Harris and his galaxy of stars making their debut against the champion Washington Senators at the dedication of new Fenway Park.

Bernial pre-season on April 16 against the Senators at Washington, with President Roosevelt as the guest of honor.

Painted Day, Bunker Hill Day, July 4 and 13 Sundays at home.

The Yankees have on two Sundays, including the first of the season, as well as on July 4. The champion Boston Red Sox have on two Sundays at home and away with the Yankees and Detroit's Tigers.

ONE BLUE VOTE

The only possible fix that could be picked in the Sox list is the appearance of the St. Louis Browns at the Fenway on Bunker Hill Day, which will be celebrated on June 15 this year. But the schedule-makers can be forgiven for that in view of the fact they've looked the natives for only one Sabbath till at home and away with the Yankees and Detroit's Tigers.

The Yankees have on two Sundays, including the first of the season, as well as on July 4. The champion Boston Red Sox have on two Sundays at home and away with the Yankees and Detroit's Tigers.

Included in that list are the first Sunday at the Yawkey Stadium, included, Sept. 30, the last day of the season, at the Fenway.

The first western tour will open May 2, with the Browns leading the pack. The Sox will make their first western appearance at St. Louis, May 10.

HOLIDAYS ON ROAD

Decoration Day at Philadelphia and Labor Day at Washington are the best holidays on the road.

Thanks to the passage of the Sunday sports bill in Pennsylvania, the American League will be able to offer a balanced schedule for the first time since 1911. All eight clubs have a dozen Sunday games each at home and away.

The Senators are the only club in the league that has 20 or more Sunday games at home and away.

appeared in Boston on that day. In addition, the Sox will battle the Yankees in the first, third and fifth games of the first series at Philadelphia's history on April 21.

Whiteside Misses

Coxswain Bissell

By WALTER KILEY

"Swing, swing, swing into it. Shoulders square. Hit it up, hit it up. Just a little word picture of Coach Charles Whiteside as he exhorts his Harvard varsity crew to swing into the Newell Boston indoor tank works and hit it up for the far away races of the opening season.

Much swinging and plenty of hitting it up will have to be done before Harvard is ready to take to the river for its Yale rival a run at New London next June.

With much splicing, the Crimson is already taking some semblance of shape.

But Whiteside, now in his fifth year at Cambridge, gave a most difficult task in rounding out a formidable eight.

For the past three years, the Crimson has conquered Yale over the four-oar route, last year by a margin of seven seconds, was just shy of two boat lengths.

But of that boat, Capt. Brad Simmons remains, the rest have departed by way of graduation.

Therefore, the situation is far from ship-shape.

Simmons isn't even available at this time. It seems that the big senior has been laid up with a heavyweight boxing champion.

For the crew will not be with his crew until the outdoor season on the Charles some time about March 10.

Of the balance of the forecast, candidates are willing enough and anxious to make good. But they are on the short side of the matter of weight and tremendously lacking in experience.

No miracle Whiteside can perform a miracle, it would appear that the Harvard crew will be struggling next year and the year after, which is a pretty good thing to say.

Perhaps his greatest loss from 1931 is his coxswain, Hamilton Bissell. "The best coxswain I ever saw," states Whiteside. "A boy who could save a couple of hundred dollars a four-mile race. How you will miss him."

After watching his 60 varsity candidates in their late fall and early winter workouts on the Charles, the Crimson coach is somewhat of a pessimist.

Stroke, Sam Drury, stroke of the varsity last year. Now, Paul Kelly, a senior's freshman crew member, is the new stroke.

Others who may be jumped into the first boat are Franklin D. Smith, better known as "Buck," who stroked the combination crew last year, and a new recruit, Earl Barrow, No. 5 on the junior varsity in 1933. Bud Drysdale of last year's freshman boat, and Maurice Smith, one of the most promising, the new recruits.

What with six heaves and a flock of stars in four other classes entering, there is a good hope that they should get their fill of it at the weekly amateur boxing show of the Irish-American A. C. 330 Broadway, South Boston.

Ed Smith of Watertown, Charlie Belford of Weymouth, Bill Demaree of Norwood, Tony Bankowsky of Boston, Felix Bissell of Framingham, and Johnny Jackson of Cohasset will sweep purchase for heavyweight honors. They represent the largest number of "big fellows" to compete in local "pure" tonight this season.

Random Shots at Target

Having lost six games in a row, the Ottawa Senators were in a receptive mood when "proposition" to transfer Saturday night's Red Wings game to Detroit. The transferred game, which will be played Sunday, will benefit both clubs, for the Senators will receive a better financial return than they would in Ottawa and the Red Wings should profit through the conflict being staged in Detroit.

After playing the Hawks in Chicago tonight, the Red Wings will have seven road games and seven at home. The team has only a marginal edge over the former Bruin.

Peggy O'Neil, the former Mass. Ranger, is paying his freight with the Bruins. Since he was taken up from the Cubs, Peggy has been the fans a run for their money and he is now one of the most popular players on the Bruin roster.

If there is a more absolutely fearless player in the N. H. L. we cannot put our finger on him at this moment.

On his previous trip here, Manager Joe Simpson was considering making a trade with some minor league club for Red Conn. Then, Conn broke his left wrist and he is now as good as one of the most valuable players under Simpson.

The Toronto Maple Leafs are wrangling to get Frank Finnigan from Ottawa. Since "Ace" Bailey's injury, the Leafs have been handed in the right wing department and as Finnigan played with them two years ago, on loan from the Senators, they realize that he is the man to fill in the vacancy.

Before the Bruin-Hawk game in Chicago, the police hauled up the spectators, relieved them of their tickets and then arrested the entire mob.

While in Detroit with the Bruins, Myles Lane took a midwinter examination. The papers were sent to the University of Detroit and he went out to the Jesuit college and hit the "exams" right on the nose.

THREATS IN SPORTS

Di Maggio Has Deep Sea They Call the Boy "Dead Pan" and How He May Follow Ruth

By Jack Kofoed

The North Beach and Cow Hollow sections of San Francisco have produced some corking good ball players. There was Ping Bodie, for instance, a big slugging and a bigger eater.

Even Babe Ruth couldn't slash his way through a menu any better than Ping. There was also Fred Roberg, a fine shortstop who fell upon evil days and was banished from baseball for his share in the 1919 World Series scandal. There is still in the big leagues Tony Lazzeri and Frank Crosetti. Three Italians and a Swede, and what ball players!

At North Beach lives a grizzled Italian named Di Maggio. He has five sons and a daughter, and takes his deep sea tug out of Fisherman's Wharf every morning. Signor Di Maggio was never intended for fame. . . . No, for that matter, four of his sons or the black haired daughter. Fish is their business. . . . and their lives are permeated with the funny odor.

But one son found nothing to intrigue him on the bounding deep. He played baseball whenever he could. His name is Joe and no matter how Pop lawied him out he kept winning the old ball.

Joe made quite a record with the semi-professionals. . . . so fine his son in this queer American game.

Manager Jimmy Caveney, of the San Francisco Seals, heard that the youngster was just a kid, and he was not to be taken too seriously. So he made a trial, so Caveney invited him to work out with the club.

That was in the spring of 1933. Joe Di Maggio, ranger, well built, made his professional debut with a Class A outfit, which is rather unusual in itself. But the really unusual part of this story is that he came.

The kid from North Beach hadn't been with the Seals for more than a few days when his teammates nicknamed him "Dead Pan." He had nothing to say. Caveney was seldom joking, . . . for the sea teaches silence. Probably Joe, who had never gone to sea, absorbed that habit of silence from his father.

Perhaps he didn't know anything to talk about but baseball. . . . and he kept that subject to himself in the presence of men who were more learned in the lore than he.

But it didn't matter to San Francisco whether Di Maggio was quiet or noisy. Not after they had scanned the season's averages. "Dead Pan" compiled a batting average of .340. He hit safely in 46 consecutive games. . . . beating the record of 49 that Jack Ness set during 1915, and drove in 169 runs. He was also a streak in the field, and led the league fly chasers with 32 assists.

That, I submit, is one of the most amazing records ever compiled by an 18-year-old boy in his first year of fast time baseball.

A few weeks ago, when Dead Pan went to the office to sign his 1934 contract he took his father with him. You see, not being of age, he could not legally put his name to any paper. So the puzzled Italian fisherman sat and listened and the young star said hardly a word while Vice-President Charles Graham and Jimmy Caveney explained what it was all about. The contract was signed. . . . and they went away.

He Swings Like Jackson

Graham looked after the loosely built son footer, who packs 190 pounds on his athletic frame, and said:

"Give him a couple of years and Di Maggio is going to be one of the greatest ball players in the country."

"I'm sure of it," said Caveney.

"Did you ever see a better natural slapper at the plate of a guy who took a free cut at the ball?"

"Yes, sir, he's as good a swinger as Joe Jackson was. . . . and that's saying something."

The flowers that bloom in the spring race a very often whither by June. . . . and this rather strange metaphor means that young ball players, who earn press notices in the training camp quick frequently are back in the minors before the season opens.

But, after all, there is no league in the country where Di Maggio can learn more about baseball than he can out there on the Pacific Coast. The players are almost all college leaguers. . . . and you know and know the answers. Dead Pan will find out what it's all about.

But I'm telling you. . . . Keep your eye on Dead Pan Joe Di Maggio.

Hockey World Pays Tribute to Joliat

Durable Little Wing Plays 500th Game for Canadiens

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Hockey world pays tribute to one of its greatest and most consistent players as he plays his 500th game for the Montreal Canadiens.

That win is quite a feat, but it is even more remarkable that the win in the 50th game of the season—his 500th—has come in the 50th game of the season.

In his 11 full seasons since he joined the French Canadian team in 1922, Joliat scored more than 200 goals and assisted in about 100.

This year he has chalked up 15 goals and 10 assists so far to hold fourth place in the league's Canada division, and is ready to collect a few more assists in the playoffs.

Maroon tonight as the local favorite to fight it out for second place in their division.

A product of the Ottawa Valley, Joliat started on double-runner skates when he was four years old, and he has been a hockey player ever since.

The "mighty midget," about 130 pounds of him, has five feet, six inches frame, has earned a reputation as one of the fastest skaters and as a hard hitter in the game.

The star is all set for tonight to lead a drive to touch.

3 U. S. ENTRIES LITTLE SPEAKS OUT IN BRITAIN AT CAPITAL

London Feb. 8 (AP)—The three American survivors in the English women's squash racket championship today were almost all in the quarter-final round.

They were Miss M. E. Lyons, Miss W. P. Howe, Jr. of Boston and Miss M. E. Lyons.

Before the hard-hitting young English runner-up last year, and Mrs. Mary J. Lyons of New York, who before the other game, English high school best Dorothea 2 to 1.

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Lou Little, nee Picolo, the Locomotive (Miss) boy who made good in the big city, came back to the scene of his early coaching endeavors to address the Georgetown prep football dinner.

In a hearty voice that roared above puffing engines Little said he didn't know what the coaches would do when they returned to the field in Atlanta to prove the excellence of the prep football.

"I hope they won't change 'em too much," Mr. Lyons barked. "I learned the old rules yet."

Little was not the enthused orator of the occasion. He was a quiet, unassuming man, but he was a good one.

lallypoo men in front of the fair's skin opera. There farm families on hold of the washbasins of food and large breeds of orchards, who went scrambling up your spine and left smeared of eld filling and pickle briar. So it was hard to catch the harness racing spirit at a county fair.

But then, too, at Rockingham the approaches are pretty badly matted up with all kinds of unrefined, coarse folk having doubtful conjectures on the races, in sealed envelopes at so much a conjecture, and finger men, stogges, chiselers and grifters, playing tag with flord, hard mouthed tact detectors. For the parade of the horse, when he was in the vacuum of the race, is peculiarly adapted to the running horse, which stage races is a single flight as against the heat system in harness racing. And where the money is, there also are the little and big cheaters, who sometimes a horse's tonsils with heroin, or jab chemicals into his veins, or freeze his aging hocks.

Man's Love for a Horse Depends on Earning Power

YET somehow, the bandy-legged, teetering gait of the harness horse, with his tail braids flicking his driver's eyes, lacks the satisfying illusion of the running horse, all spraddled out with the colored coils of the monkey men like winking in the breeze. Though the roar roars that well up from the crowd's spiritual caverns have the same abandoned sound in either case, for whether a man risks small or large amounts on a horse, he can follow with the same ardor the same of the crowd's spirit.

DIAMOND NOTES

Judge Fuchs hasn't abandoned hope of putting through a deal which will strengthen the Braves. Though every effort has been made, reports from New York that he will not submit a bid for the team before tomorrow at the earliest.

Billy Urbanski, diminutive shortstop of the Tribe, is the first Boston ball player to admit having signed his 1934 contract. Barber Bill whispered in a customer's ear in his tonorial parlor, at Perth Amboy, N. J., that he had received a document for $1000, and last season Urbanski was the most substantial of the Braves' hitters.

You, know Rabbit Maraville and the Weygan deal. He is a day ago, but that news came from the fact that he had not signed his 1934 contract. Also, it is taken for granted that Luce Walberg and Ducky Adams have signed with the Sox but, officially, these young men merely palled with Eddie Collins and appeared satisfied.

Holdout Goslin in Huddle With Owner Navin

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—Goslin-Osborne agreement with the Tigers is at least as close as the ship of a slugging outfielder, was in town today to settle the matter of a contract for the 1934 season with Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit baseball club.

Navin expressed confidence that an agreement with Goslin, who came to Detroit along with the new manager Mickey Vernon in the winter, would be reached.

Stock exchange brokers tell me that there is a great improvement lately by the character and magnitude of their buying orders, and that the influential investors abroad who have been buying American stocks and also bonds, are now buying them anywhere from 35 to 65 cents on the dollar.

Unless all economic calculations miscarry, the outlook is for an advance in the price of loan security and commodity prices.

proverbially distrusts a market which rises and rises and rises without ease.

R. C. Forbes now happening is perfectly natural and logical. The main question is, are we in a bull or a bear market?

Stock exchange brokers tell me that they have been greatly impressed lately by the character and magnitude of their buying orders.

They declare that influential investors abroad as well as at home have been consistently accumulating American stocks and also bonds, particularly bonds selling anywhere from 35 to 65 cents on the dollar.

Too, preferred shares still paying dividends, but selling anywhere from one-third to two-thirds below par, have been favored by buyers.

Unless all economic calculations miscarry, the outlook is for an advancing trend in American security and commodity prices.

Some medicines act instantaneously, others slowly but surely. The former will kill, but the latter is likely to have slow but sure effect upon our general price level. Assuming that it does, and assuming also that business betterment will continue, securities and commodities should respond by doing better.

Shrewd foreign and home investors, individual and institutional, reason that American enterprises that have proved able to weather the storm are not in any grave danger of failure. They want companies able to meet interest payments and preferred dividends all through the depression are in

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

Our national debt is increasing at the rate of $100,000,000 a day—$115 for every second, day and night.

We may not know where we are going, but we're certainly getting there quick.

It might not be a bad idea to put these 4,000,000 CWA workers to building postboxes, for our grand children.

Little Willie, bless his soul, Pushed Pa down a deep man-hole.

Mama said, "Now, little love, Let's lap down the iron coor."
